Welcome to the State Championships

On behalf of the Arizona Interscholastic Association, I would like to welcome all the participants, coaches, family and friends to our state championship. It is our pleasure to be able to bring you a fantastic event.

It took a great deal of hard work to reach this point. The AIA recognizes the strength it took to get here, as well as the sacrifices made along the way. And for that, we say thank you. The student-athletes, administrators, coaches and families have all earned our gratitude.

While attending this championship, we hope that it is an enjoyable experience for all. The lessons learned regarding sportsmanship and fair play are elevated here. Athletics are an extension of the classroom, which is why we accentuate the “student” in student-athlete. State championships are just a springboard to the success these student-athletes will achieve when the competition is over. In the process of deriving enjoyment from participation in athletics, our student-athletes are learning lifelong skills that will help them develop into healthy adults and productive citizens. National research continues to validate that students involved in extracurricular activities attend more days of school, perform better in the classroom and have less behavioral issues. This also includes lower dropout, alcohol and drug abuse rates as compared to those who do not participate. The benefits of participation are extensive.

The AIA began in 1913 and has grown by leaps and bounds over the years. Along with the Executive Board, the AIA vigorously defends and promotes the positive developments of athletics, creates a culture that fosters self-governance and ethical behavior, and teaches, enforces, advocates and models the principles of the Arizona Accord and “Pursuing Victory With Honor.” Today, nearly 125,000 student-athletes statewide benefit from the leadership of our Board, administrators and hard-working coaches on an annual basis.

As you enjoy all the championship contests, please show respect to those around you. Displays of good sportsmanship will place you in high regard along with your school and your community, and remind us all that, sports are meant to be fun and enjoyed by not only those participating, but those in attendance. The AIA hopes this championship, as well as any others you may attend, achieves the level of excellence our student-athletes deserve. Remember that these are “our students, our teams ... our future.”

D-I State Wrestling:

Desert Vista, Liberty, Mtn. View Teams to Watch

By Les Willsey
azpreps365.com

Sunnyside will not rule the Division I state boys state wrestling meet this year. The Blue Devils are back in D-II vying to wreak havoc there.

That opens the door for a handful of teams to compete for the D-I team crown for 2019 supremacy this week (Feb. 8-9) at Findlay Center in Prescott Valley.

Below are the top four seeds in each weight class and general outlook on the top contenders for the team title:

106 pounds: *1. Charles Boyle, Westwood. 2. Zander Phatouros, Liberty. 3. Cesar Avelar, Brophy. 4. Zac Randall, Highland.

OUTLOOK AND NOTES: Six schools qualified at least 11 of 14 wrestlers -- Mountain View qualified all 14, Liberty, moving up from D-II has 13, Desert Vista, Hamilton and Perry 12 each and Cibola 11. Desert Vista has five wrestlers who placed at state last year among its 12 qualifiers, Liberty three and Mountain View two. Ten of Liberty's qualifiers are seeded either No. 1 or No. 2. Nine of Desert Vista's and Mountain View's qualifiers also are seeded either No. 1 or No. 2.

The field possesses three defending state champions. One is a two-time champ -- Queen Creek senior Denen Fernandez who shoots for a third consecutive title and fourth time as a state placer. Fernandez was a runner-up in D-II as a freshman at 126 and has titles the last two years at 138 and 145 in D-II. Queen Creek is up in D-I this year where Fernandez is competing at 152. Mountain View senior Jeremiah Hollen is a two-time state place -- champ last year at 195 and runner-up in that class in 2017. Chandler sophomore Zach Espalin competing at 113 this year won the 106 title last year.

Two wrestlers with more than 10 decisions bring unbeaten records to the tournament -- Boulder Creek's Sheldon Cole (51-0) at 160 and Mtn. View's Hollen (44-0). Four others have one loss - Queen Creek's Fernandez (41-1), Desert Vista's Brett Johnson (40-1) at 285, Hamilton's Donovan Corn (40-1) at 182 and Mesa High's Steve Jarman (52-1) at 138.

Sunnyside Going For 32nd State Championship

Two-time state champion Marcus Castillo of Marana Mountain View (Andy Morales of azpreps365.com)

By Andy Morales
azpreps365.com

Sunnyside cruised to a 257.5 to 180 win over Cienega to claim the Division II, Section I championship held at Flowing Wells High School on Saturday, Feb. 2 and the margin of victory by the Blue Devils was the biggest in Division II, with Ironwood squeaking past Centennial 146.5 to 146 in Section II, Millennium getting past Kellis 153 to 148.5 in Section III and Campo Verde beating Williams Field 200.5 to 171 in Section IV.

To put the margin of victory and what it means for state in perspective, Sunnyside won the 2018 Division I state championship over Cibola 193 to 164 and Millennium finished in 24th place with 12 points.

Sunnyside and Millennium were moved down from D-I to D-II this year along with other state teams Horizon (9th) and Desert Mountain (23rd) while the D-II state champion Queen Creek was moved up to D-I along with the D-II state runner-up, Liberty.

Cienega took third place in Division II last year, Williams Field came in fourth, Mountain View Marana took fifth and Campo Verde came in sixth. With Queen Creek and Liberty out of the equation, it's going to be very difficult for a team to get past the Blue Devils once again.

The Blue Devils are sending 13 wrestlers to state while Cienega, Williams Field are sending 11, Mountain View and Ironwood Ridge are sending ten, Centennial is sending nine, Ironwood and Millennium are sending eight. Campo Verde are also sending 13 wrestlers to state and the Coyotes appear to be in the best position to challenge the Blue Devils but Campo Verde came away with five individual titles while Sunnyside came away with seven with two-time state champion Jesse Ybarra (37-2) forfeiting his bout in the 126-pound division.

Two-time state champion Marcus Castillo (54-0) earned another section title for Mountain View and he will be a returning state champion along with Ybarra, Nathan Smith (42-5) of Williams Field (132), Daunte Cartwright (31-1) of Camelback (113) and Tarik Sutkovic (48-1) of Ironwood (220). Castillo wrestled at 138 last year but his move to 132 sets up a possible clash with Smith this year.

Yuma Seeking Another Dream Season, But Walden Grove Might Stand in the Way Again

By Jose Garcia
azpreps365.com

Jeff Welsing hasn't had a premonition like last year before heading to the state wrestling meet.

"I've been wanting to," he said. "Trust me."

It sounds farfetched, but Welsing said he had a dream last year that his Yuma High wrestling team would be down by five points heading into the final match of the Division III state meet, needing a pin by his heavyweight to clinch the crown.

Welsing's dream was off just a tad. His team was actually down 5 ½ points as heavyweight Oscar Vega took the mat last year.

The dream came true when Vega pinned his opponent. Bonkers.

But it happened.

But there's a flipside to this story, the nightmare of Walden Grove, the second place team that lost to Yuma by just half a point. Based on this regular season's performances, the paths of both schools will likely continue to intertwine atop the medal stands.

The D-III favorites qualified a combined 25 wrestlers for the state meet at Prescott Valley Event Center. Last year, two matches before Vega's miracle on the mat claimed Yuma's first team wrestling title since 1963, Walden Grove was docked a point.

Its coach, Victor Gonzalez, said he was dinged for a coaching misconduct after apparently saying something, which he disputed.

"It has haunted me the whole year," the coach said.

Without the coaching misconduct, Walden Grove goes home with a half point victory over Yuma and its first team wrestling championship.

But Gonzalez's boys never blamed their coach.

"They told me, 'It had nothing to do with you,'" Gonzalez said. "To have kids that great is good."

This season, Walden Grove and Yuma crossed paths once, during the Marana Mountain View duels.

Yuma won again by a razor thin margin, but Walden Grove didn't enter wrestlers in three different divisions. Leading Walden Grove's redemption tour this season is a group of seniors who've been throwing their opponents around since they were in middle school.

"That's a family to them," Gonzalez said.

The kingpin of the group is three-time state champ Diego Guerrero (134).

The senior conquered Sunnyside's Jesse Ybarra, 6-4, after dropping down in weight to square up against the Iowa commit at Flowing Wells.

"That was one of the best matches I've been a part of," Gonzalez said. "It was a pretty neat experience. There was an outpouring of support from the crowd. What a great match. With a kid of Jesse's quality, you have to bring you're 'A' game."

Also dropping in weight and winning a prestigious Flowing Wells Caballero was Walden Grove's Owen Berry.

Berry (122) transferred from Colorado and quickly made himself at home in Arizona. He's only lost one match this season.

"Man, Owen is funky," Gonzalez said, "In wrestling terms that mean's he's great at scrambling. He's tough on on top and good on his feet as well. He's deceptively strong."

Berry also immediately clicked with Walden Grove's Guerrero, Adam Alveranga, Jackson Edwards and Conrad Medina, the friends who've been wrestling together since 7th grade.

They are now high school seniors and on a mission.

"I remember the kids saying that (what happened last year) won't happen this year," Gonzalez said. "We are going to go up there (Prescott) and hopefully show some people who we are and show just how dedicated we are. The kids didn't like how it ended last year. I'm sure they are going to come out firing."

That's exactly what Yuma did last year.

On Day 2 of the 2017-18 championships, Welsing told his team about the dream he had a couple of months before the state meet. Before the start of the final day at state, Welsing instructed Vega how he saw his match unfolding.

In last season's D-III heavyweight final, Vega defeated a Moon Valley wrestler who pinned him in the regular season.

"They were blown away," said Welsing, whose team won the school's first team title in any sport since 1990.

Yuma lost two champs and a 4th place finisher from last year.

The leaders this year have each won more than 50 matches, Jacob Sanchez (182) and Aidan Erwin (170). But the team suffered a big blow about three weeks ago when Servando Campos (40-2 record, 170) fractured a leg during a home match.

Welsing will have to rely on the depth he's developed to defend Yuma's title. It took a while to get Yuma back to the top, but Welsing never lost hope.

"I had some doubt," said the 14-year coach. "But I kept grinding and grinding. I knew if I kept doing it the right way, good things would come."

Welsing still watches the video of last season's unbelievable ending.

"Every day," he said. "That's what drives me."

Window Rock's Redhorse Ready to Take New Stage for Girls Wrestling

By Oree Foster

The wait is over for Window Rock Lady Scouts freshman wrestler Jiinibah Redhorse.

Redhorse has been wrestling for four years, beginning in the sixth grade at Tsehootsooi Middle School, which is within the Window Rock Unified School District. Throughout her young career, Redhorse had to wrestle male wrestlers.

This year, the Arizona Interscholastic Association implemented an all female state wrestling tournament, where for the first time female wrestlers will earn state individual championships, similar to male wrestlers.

"I started wrestling in sixth grade," Redhorse explained. "I've been wrestling boys for four years now. There was never an opportunity to only wrestle girls. I like the idea of girls state wrestling. I think this is fair, but not having to mat wrestle as the boys do is strange to me and should be changed."

Redhorse comes from a family of wrestlers, who've done extremely well in their endeavors. She is following the footsteps of her father, Marvin, and brother, Jimizan.

"In my freshman year in high school," she said, "I joined wrestling, because I wanted to try something new. I didn't find an interest in basketball. My whole family was in the sport."

She is extremely proud of her father and brother's wrestling accomplishments.

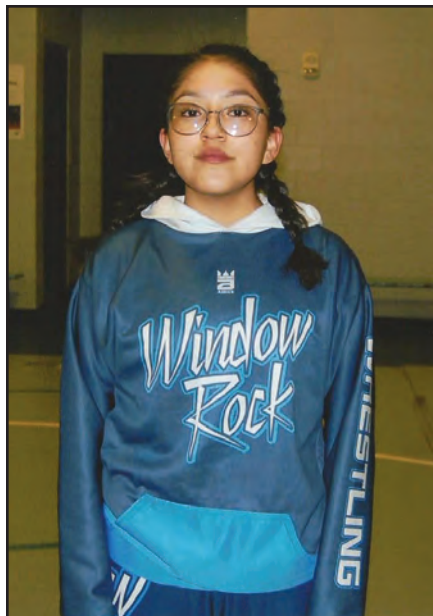

Her father competed at Winslow High School. He earned a wrestling scholarship to Northern Arizona University, competing for the Lumberjacks for two years, before the sport was dropped.

She said her father remembers wrestling current Arizona State wrestling head coach Zeke Jones while at NAU.

When NAU dropped wrestling from its athletic program, Redhorse transferred to a college in Montana, where he earned All-America honors.

Her brother wrestled for four years under current Window Rock head coach Marc Hillis. Her brother qualified for the state tournament four years as a member of the Fighting Scouts wrestling team.

The state tournament is scheduled for Friday at Prescott Valley Event Center.

Redhorse said she is looking forward and excited about competing in the inaugural all female state wrestling tournament.

She said she set goals at the beginning of the season and hopes to achieve them at the state tournament.

"At the beginning of the season, my goal was to improve my speed, balance, technique, consistency and my upper body strength," Redhorse said. "Also, to beat some boys, which I have done. Now, entering the state tournament, I would like to win my matches and place top four in the state."

Competing in the 118-pound weight division, Redhorse finished second at the sectional meet two weeks ago at Winslow High School. With her runner-up finish in her weight class, Redhorse earned a state tournament berth.

With limited female wrestlers competing in the sectional meet, Redhorse finished with a 1-1 record.

Entering the state meet, Redhorse has six wins and eight losses.

"I've been in the 120 weight class, wrestling the boys and very few girls this season," Redhorse said.

Redhorse lost to a wrestler from Chino Valley for the Sectional 118-pound weight division title.

"I won my first match at the sectional meet against a Page wrestler," Redhorse said. "I lost my second match against a Chino Valley wrestler."

Redhorse said if she wrestles the Chino Valley wrestler again, it would be a different story.

"Yes, she (Chino Valley wrestler) is beatable," Redhorse said. "I was intimidated by her and lost a little bit of my confidence. I should have watched her first match and learned from it. I was surprised by her strength when she snapped me down. But I now know how to counter. On the mat, I need to be aggressive and confident. I will also have to be strong mentally and think smarter."

Female wrestling consists of three periods and two minutes for each quarter.

She has been conditioning herself to be strong throughout the matches. She said it is very important to keep her weight.

"I have to stay in shape and remain in my weight class," she said. "In any weight class, the boys are usually stronger and skilled than the female wrestlers. Now that there are girls state and sectionals, there is a better chance at winning matches. Losing to boys can be a negative, so female wrestlers have to work harder."

She said Window Rock's male wrestling members are supportive during her matches.

She said her classmates and teachers stand by her side as well.

"They encourage me and say I can do it," she said. "My whole school is happy with my achievements, including my teachers."

She said after her graduating she plans to enter college and work toward a degree.

"My plans are to go to a college of my liking with a scholarship and possibly have a part time job to raise money," she said. "I want to become a therapist for adults and be able to prescribe pills as needed after finishing college."

Wrestling State Sisterhood Has Arrived for the First Time

By Jose Garcia
azpreps365.com

Tombstone High junior Jasmine Jacquay walked into the gym and immediately felt a bond with those around her.

The gym was filled with girls preparing to wrestle for sectional titles and state berths.

"It was special," Jacquay said. "It was really cool to see a lot of girls. I didn't know there were so many wrestling. I thought I was just one of a few."

The wrestling sisterhood has arrived in Arizona.

Girls have been wrestling, but this season marks the first time they'll do so for state championships in the state. They'll make the trek with the boys this week to Prescott Valley Events Center to see who is the best of the best in the 2018-19 season.

It's a landmark event that's been two years in the making. The trailblazers on and off the mat who continue to help girls wrestling grow deserve all of the credit.

This season, more than 300 girls in the state took to the mats.

"It really got girls out of their shells," said Jacquay about the Arizona Interscholastic Association's decision to include individual wrestling titles for girls.

The AIA formed a sub committee in 2017 to look at adding girls wrestling as an emerging sport. There was a lot of interest in the sport, especially on reservation schools.

Monument Valley's athletic director and former AIA executive board president Jacob Holiday was in full support, said AIA wrestling sports administrator Dean Visser, of a girls wrestling state championship meet. There was also a lot of interest from some Arizona schools that border California, where wrestling's history is long.

In Arizona, well-respected high school coaches with national and club wrestling ties also pushed for the inclusion of girls to wrestle for state medals. As girls wrestling continues to grow so to are the opportunities at the college level with wrestling scholarships.

That's another reason why the AIA is rolling out the mats at state for girls, Visser said.

"We wanted to push the boat out into the waters of girls wrestling and see how much interest we had and get it started," Visser said.

The girls who qualified for state this week did so at five sectionals.

Originally, four sectionals were planned but because of the high interest another sectional was added. The three top placers from each section advanced to state, where the top five will be seeded in each weight class.

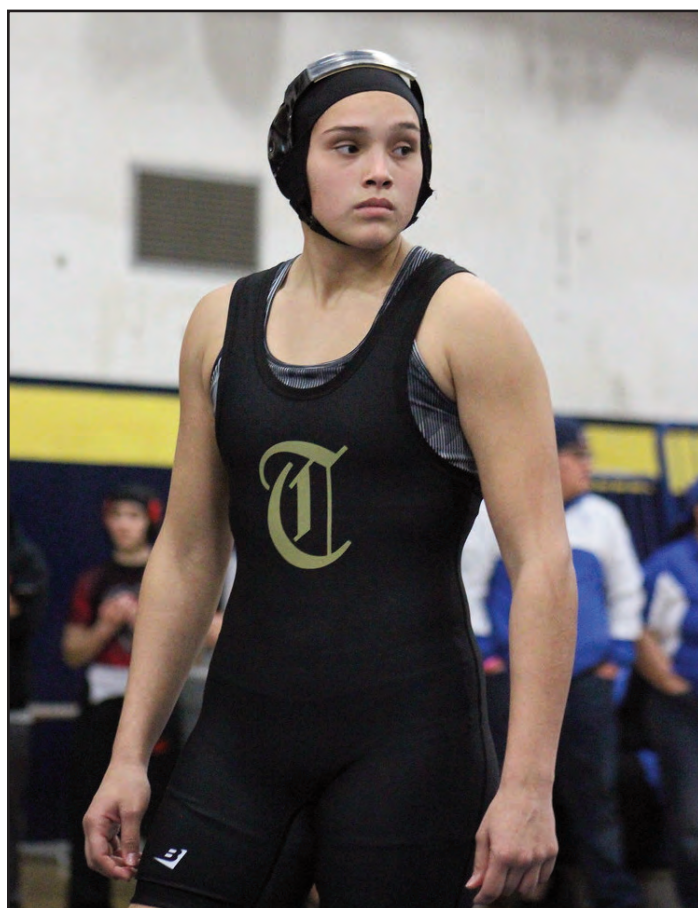

Medals will be handed out in 10 weight classes, with the top four placers receiving medals. There is only one division for girls but that might increase if more girls continue to come out, Visser said.

"This first step has already inspired a lot of girls to come out," Jacquay said.

The Flowing Wells Invitational has been around for more than 50 years, and this season the state's top regular season wrestling meet organized a tournament just for girls.

Jacquay became the first to receive the tournament's Most Outstanding Girls Wrestler award. But during her sectional final, Jacquay lost her varsity match this season.

She'll get a chance to avenge that loss at state. That's all the girls who wrestle were asking for.
